Sadachi, 75 years old, from the village of Naikuthi, is ten years older than Unnamalai who is from Avalur. Neither of them work. One has increased blood pressure, another has a failing memory and bouts of giddiness. Today, both make regular, short journeys to the Sittilingi Base Hospital to get their medicines for free. Being beneficiaries of the old age health care scheme, both clutch their ID papers in their hands and smile widely when asked how they now feel.

A novel health care scheme for those above 60 years was introduced. Registered old people are provided in patient and out patient care for a fee of Rs 30 per year. An astounding 504 people from 21 villages registered and were given base line health check up. A large number of hypertension and infection related cases were detected. Noticing alarming levels of deficiency, most have been put on monthly calcium and iron supplements. Almost all of these old people have taken charge of their health and turn up for monthly health check ups.

Health initiative: Breaking new ground: If it had been last year, 47 year old Kumar from Keelathukuzhi village in the Kalrayan Hills would have had to lose a leg. He injured himself while ploughing his fields. Some local treatment worsened the wound. At the Sittilingi Base hospital, he had access to basic medicines. He had to be referred to a district hospital, given that the wound had led to pus formation and gangrene but he could access crucial health care thanks to the new initiative.

The Kalrayan health initiative is making progress in leaps and bounds. 28 villages that were identified as those most in need were chosen. So far, 23 Out Patient clinics have been held where 989 patients were seen. 23 health auxiliaries (HA) were selected for training at Kalrayan Hills and so far, 8 training sessions have been held. The topics being covered are on how to weigh babies, how to improve health conditions in the villages, to deal with THI recevied the 2009 Bhagwan Mahavir Award for Education and Medicine. It is a National award and carries a cash prize of Rs 5 lakh and a citation.

Helping tribals heal themselves
As the Member responsible for health in GOI planning, what you are doing here in Sittilingi gives me hope for the millions of marginalised Indians who have no access.

Farmers initiative: Many officially turn organic! The Sittilingi Organic Farmers’ Association, a society that was formed to give them better bargaining powers and mutual support, received scope certification after a state organic certification agency team visited in May. This is the predecessor to the organic certification which will add much value to the products that are sold under the SVAD brand name. The sale of organic products crossing Rs 6,90,000 has also encouraged many more farmers to register themselves as fully organic. There were 55 farmers in 2009. The first six months of 2010 saw 13 new registrations.

The 15 groups of organic farmers meet every month to discuss farming methods and organize various activities. South India Mills Association (SIMA) bought the entire stock of organic cotton at a premium of 15% which has further encouraged more farmers to take up organic farming.

Several women were given training in soap and papad making. Organic cotton, ragi, millets, turmeric, and jaggery continue to be produced. 5 groups of women run machines to clean and package products.

Craft initiative: More colour, more ideas! Several new products were added to the existing range of Porgai products that seek to revive the art of beautiful Lambadi embroidery. Three exhibitions were held in Bangalore, Chennai where goods worth over Rs 3.9 lakh were sold. A skill upgradation workshop was conducted. The number of artisans has increased from 35 to 65 in two groups.

This and That: Several workshops were held for various groups. The Spices Board conducted a session on organic turmeric while designers Nishy Singh from Delhi did one on designs and Anitha from Bangalore came up with ideas for many more products of Porgai. 78 community certificates have been obtained.

The technology initiative building was completed. Several Friends of Sittilingi came forward to help with funds towards the end of the construction when cost escalation had slowed down work.

Tribal Health Initiative started working in Sittilingi valley of Dharmapuri Dist of Tamil Nadu 15 years ago. We now have a Base Hospital which caters to more than 80,000, most of whom are tribals. We also run a comprehensive development program for about 10,000 tribals who dwell in 21 villages.

Our vision is that the people of Sittilingi valley and Kalrayan Hills lead a better quality of life:

- To attain the highest possible level of holistic health.
- To enhance their socio-economic status while retaining their pride, self-respect, and self-reliance and ensuring their active participation in programs meant for their welfare.
- To create an atmosphere highly conducive for the growth and development of local cultures and customs.

Plans for next year:

- ★ Start field clinics in the Kalrayan Hills
- ★ Quality improvement through standard operating procedures (SOPs) and Kaizen methods.
- ★ Provide support to rain fed farmers to ensure food security through traditional farming methods.
Start retailing Porgai products to ensure regular income to artisans.
Start training at the technology initiative.
Upgrading the hospital waste management system and construction of a low cost incinerator.

Thank you
The progress of our initiatives and the further improvement of the tribal society would not have been possible without the constant encouragement and steady support of BCF, SKI, TANSACS, AID, FOS (India and UK), NCRI, MMKCT, DRT, IIT, Chennai, and many others. We are deeply grateful to them for helping us make a difference. Thank you everyone.

The old and the healthy:
Ramagoundar and Vengamma are both over 80 years old. From the time that they got registered, the farming couple have not missed a single health check up. They could not have imagined the luxury of good health care a few years ago before the Old Age Health Scheme came into place.

What we can use your donation for Health: For the 'Distant Healer Fund' which is used to subsidise patients bills.

Farming: For creating a revolving fund for advance purchase of farmers produce
